

MACLEOD SCHOOL FAIR—THE CHILDREN'S GREAT CARNIVAL

The Wheat Pool Met With Farmers' General Endorsation

With a little more than 47 per cent. of the 50 per cent. objective acreage for the 1923 wheat pool in the head-quarters in the form of signed contracts, there was a new feeling of assurance and complete confidence by members of the board of trustees and others on Friday. The decision made Thursday by the board of trustees to proceed immediately with the organization of the pool, section of the management and arrangement for elevators, has been met with general approval so far as has been learned by any of the officials of the pool.

Contracts have continued to come to the office on Friday in good volume, although no official count of these had been made at 2 o'clock. It is expected that there will be contracts from the distant parts of the province arriving at the office as late as Saturday night and possibly Monday.

Representative in Winnipeg
The arrangements for elevators are in the hands of the trustees at present in Winnipeg and no report can be made with regard to these from the local headquarters. Members of the trustees are still urging the farmers to continue signing the contracts as the fact that September 5 is past is no reason why contracts cannot be signed so long as the pool exists.

General Tone Optimistic
The general tone of the headquarters staff is optimistic at present and the attitude of the members of the board of trustees shows a much more confident feeling is held by them. They intimate that there is now a definite foundation on which to proceed and the organization can be carried on satisfactorily.

Negotiations Still On
Winnipeg, Sept. 7.—No further progress was made today by Alberta and Saskatchewan wheat pool representatives in their efforts to secure elevator facilities for the proposed pools. The directors of the Saskatchewan Co-Operative Elevator Company were in conference during the morning discussing the proposals of the pool representatives, and this afternoon they are meeting the directors of the United Grain Growers, Limited, prior to meeting the pool officials.

Issue Reply Tomorrow
Hon. J. E. Brownlee, attorney-general of Alberta, stated at noon that the special committee of the Alberta and Saskatchewan pools were in session and that a reply to the statement of the elevator interests issued last night might not be presented until Saturday.

2,700,000 Acres Signed Up
Approximately there were 2,700,000 acres contracted for in connection with the wheat pool up to Friday morning, according to a statement given by W. J. Jackman, secretary-treasurer of the trustees' board. That represented, he said, about 47 per cent. of the total acreage. A relief staff were working all through Thursday night and Friday morning in getting out the circular letter giving the signatories of the wheat pool agreement the option of withdrawing. In the opinion of Mr. Jackman, while there may be a number who will withdraw, this will be more than counter-balanced by new contracts.

Disasters
The destroyers Chauncey, Woodbury, Fuller, Lee, Nicholas, Young and Delphy were all beached within a few minutes of one another, according to the naval officers. The dead were all trapped in their bunks on the Young when that vessel struck and were drowned when the craft capsized within two minutes after striking.

A Later Report
Santa Barbara, Calif., Sept. 10.—One dead, 22 missing of whom nine are thought dead; three afloat and 12 injured in the hospital here, is the record of human losses and serious injury resulting from the disaster in which seven United States destroyers were piled on the rocks 75 miles north of the city Saturday night. All vessels are believed total losses.

JAPANESE EARTHQUAKE CASUALTIES OFFICIALLY PLACED AT 1,356,749

Osaka, Sept. 12.—What is reported to be an official compilation of the earthquake casualties, estimates the dead, injured and missing at 1,356,749. It is also estimated that a total of 115,824 houses were destroyed, and 1,500,000 people were displaced. The duty on building material imported has been removed. Reactional earthquakes have fallen in number to twenty daily.

Italy Accepts Terms—Corfu To Be Freed

Rome, Sept. 10.—Italy accepts the terms of the council of ambassadors and agrees to evacuate Corfu and adjacent islands when Greece has satisfied all of Italy's demands for reparations.

A semi-official statement says the government will consider its demands satisfied as soon as Greece carries out the demands of the council of ambassadors which are substantially the same as those Italy forwarded to Greece.

Premier Mussolini has sent to the Italian ambassador in Paris, Baron Azevedo, the following message:
"Please notify the council of ambassadors that the royal government has taken cognizance of the note which the council has addressed to Greece and that it adopts it, reaffirming Italy's proposals to evacuate Corfu and adjacent islands as soon as Greece has made full payment of all reparations demanded by Italy."

Diplomatic Victory
Athens, Sept. 10.—The Greek reply to the note of the council of ambassadors was forwarded to Paris yesterday afternoon. It was described by M. Alexandris, the foreign minister, to the Associated Press as "broadly accepting the conditions presented and leaving the ambassadors the fixing of the date and the details of the salute, the funeral services and formalities."

In a statement to the newspaper men, M. Alexandris terms the solution of the crisis as a Greek diplomatic victory, saying that the ready acquiescence in the Greek proposals by various nations, while the tribunal will fix the indemnity.

Greece Agreeable
Athens, Sept. 10.—Greece has replied to the note of the council of ambassadors announcing they are ready to conform with the decision of the council of the Italian members of the Greco-Albanian boundary commission.

Admission fees brought the London Zoo $45,025 last year, while rides on the various animals were responsible for another $2,325.

Alberta Crop Average Biggest

Winnipeg, Sept. 8.—A yield of 452,603,169 bushels of wheat from Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta this year is predicted in the 20th annual crop report of the Manitoba Free Press, published here this morning.

Alberta leads the prairie provinces for production of wheat per acre, according to the estimate, with an average yield of 25 bushels from 1.055,015 acres, the acreage harvested, 61,540,140 bushels; rye, 24,376,580 bushels; flax 7,193,026 bushels.

A Trying Season
The growing season of 1923 has been a peculiarly trying one in many respects, the newspaper says, and while the output of grain will be very much the largest in the history of Western Canada, it will not be as satisfactory a crop to handle as many a one that has preceded it; nevertheless, the great volume of grain which in the coming months will pour through the "neck of the bottle" seaward to the ships must, even at prevailing prices represent an enormous movement of money also.

Manitoba Rust Loss
"The loss from rust in Manitoba, more especially, has been heavy, very heavy. There has been loss in all the provinces from undue heat just as the heads of wheat appeared from the soil blade," it says, "and some loss in all the provinces from sawfly and from two somewhat new enemies, namely, glume blotch and root rot," the newspaper states, in its review.

Alberta Leads in No. 1
"The wheat crop of 1923 is not a No. 1 northern crop in any of the provinces," the report says, "though there will be some No. 1 northern from all of them. In this grade it is quite probable that Alberta will lead, though in view of the uneven ripening due to continued rains, the percentage of No. 1 northern will not be in proportion to the actual weight per bushel of the grain from that province, which will be extremely heavy, more especially from the north."

American Peace-Time Naval Disaster

Santa Barbara, Cal., Sept. 9.—Seven United States navy destroyers and the Pacific Mail liner Cuba were wrecked Saturday morning and Saturday night, the navy vessels crashing on the rocks in a dense fog off Arguello light, 75 miles north of here and the passenger steamer on a reef off the south end of San Miguel island, 35 miles south of this port. Twenty-five enlisted men of the destroyers lost their lives in the naval disaster and all the destroyers were reported as total losses.

The liner Cuba was reported to have sunk during the night but all passengers and members of the crew either were landed at Los Angeles by the cruiser Reno, or on their way to San Francisco on board the Standard Oil tanker W. B. Miller, with the exception of Captain C. J. Holland, the purser, steward and eight seamen, who remained on board to guard a shipment of $2,500,000 in silver bullion.

Was a Grand Success—Over 1,100 Entries Made

Macleod School Fair, held on Wednesday, September 12th, was the most successful yet held at Macleod. The weather was fine and the attendance from the country districts was exceptionally good. The number of Macleod children exhibiting is taken into consideration. Thirteen school districts were represented with exhibits—over 1100 entries in all. The gate showed a great improvement over last year—evidencing the interest taken in this children's educational and amusement feature.

FARMERS' ELEVATORS AGREE ON WHEAT POOL

Winnipeg, Sept. 8.—Complete arrangement has been reached by the Alberta and Saskatchewan wheat pool representatives with the two farmers' elevator companies as to the basis on which pool wheat will be handled, according to the announcement made this afternoon by Hon. George Langley, president of the Saskatchewan Co-Operative Elevator company, who was chairman of the joint meeting.

Langley's Statement
Mr. Langley issued the following statement:

"The two companies met in consultation and have submitted considerations to each other which have been mutually accepted by both. Having arrived at this result the accepted submissions were placed before the representatives of the pools and they were considered satisfactory. The most cordial relations existed between the companies and the wheat pool representatives."

Both the elevator and wheat pool representatives refused to disclose the basis of the agreement or the terms on which pool wheat will be handled.

Saskatchewan Pool Statement
George W. Robertson, publicity secretary of the Saskatchewan pool, issued the following statement:

"The pool committees have been engaged for the last few days negotiating for the use of country elevators to handle pool wheat. The pool committees of Saskatchewan and Alberta have been in constant conference with the representatives of the Saskatchewan Co-Operative Elevator company and the United Grain Growers. At a final session held here this morning with the executives of both the farmers' elevator companies, plans for the use of their elevators to handle pool wheat were submitted and approved by the committee sub-

Prince of Wales Arrives in Canada

Quebec, Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press).—The Prince of Wales, traveling as Lord Renfrew, arrived here this morning on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of France. The Prince is en route to his ranch in Alberta, where he is to stay for a month, tasting the simple life.

NEW MINISTER TO LIFT LID ON IMMIGRATION TO DOMINION

Ottawa, Sept. 6.—A lifting of the lid on immigration is the fore-shadowed policy of the new minister of immigration, Hon. J. A. Robb. Some definite announcement will be made in a few days, following a conference between the minister and the heads of the different branches of the department as regards British and American immigrants the disposition is to let in every able-bodied man who is willing to work and capable of making good.

A great deal of literature is being circulated in Great Britain and the States, and the movement to Canada in recent months shows a growing percentage of increase. In August the largest number of British people in years came to Canada, the figures exceeding the corresponding month of 1913, before the war.

Many Harvesters Will Stay
The number, however, is somewhat abnormal owing to the harvesters' strike in the autumn. Many of these, however, will remain permanently in the country. After the war the ban was pretty extensively applied because of unemployment and while there was relaxation last year the slight. Parliament last session voiced a rather divided view as to whether or not it was wise to open the gates, some of the Alberta Progressives opposing the idea. The more predominant opinion, however, was favorable to an aggressive policy seeing in immigration the one vital solution to the country's economic condition.

Just how far Mr. Robb will go will be announced shortly, but the preliminary intimation on certain nationalities the essential qualifications for admission will be physical health and readiness to work. Where here-tofore immigration has been confined largely to farmers and domestic helpers, this is now likely to be widened to embrace all classes. Efforts will be made to direct the influx to places where its absorption is likely to be most readily accomplished.

GERMANS DISCONTINUE PASSIVE RESISTANCE

London, Sept. 10.—The populations in the occupied areas of Germany have been ordered to discontinue their passive resistance to the French and Belgian authorities, according to the Central News correspondent in Berlin.

potatoes alone—and every one of these of excellent quality. The same applies to the carrots and beets, of which there were over 30 entries of each.

The display of flowers was simply marvelous—every description of flower indigenous to Alberta was in evidence in the greatest profusion, making of that section a bower of beauty.

Domestic products were of the highest class, and were shown in abundance—the youngsters proving conclusively their liberal education in the culinary arts. The lady judges from the School of Agriculture at Claresholm stated that the quantity and quality of these exhibits was the best they had judged at any of the various fairs held this season.

Live stock entries considerably surpassed those of last year—colts, calves and pigs on exhibition showed a noticeable improvement, evidencing the careful interest the youthful exhibitors had taken in preparing these exhibits for the keen competition at the school fair. In connection with the live stock judging it may be mentioned that one of Macleod's own school boys, Reggie McNab, officiated as one of the judges. Reggie graduated this spring from the School of Agriculture at Claresholm. He also was one of the team of four graduates of that institution appointed by the faculty to judge at the Calgary summer fair.

The sports were of a high order, and competition in the various events was very keen—spectators declaring them to be the best of their nature ever witnessed at Macleod.

A highly enjoyable feature of the fair was the rendering of excellent band music by Macleod Band, which was greatly appreciated by those in attendance. This was the first appearance of the newly organized band at a public function.

A full list of premium and sports winners will be published in The Macleod Times next week.

The management of the Fair wish to express their thanks and appreciation of the gratuitous work of the judges in each department, and also to thank all those who freely helped to make Macleod School Fair such a great success.

Secretary Gardiner is to be specially commended for his tireless and intelligent efforts in organizing and bringing the Fair to its highly successful consummation.

LOYD GEORGE WAXES SARCASTIC

London, Sept. 8.—(C. P. Cable.)—Lloyd George in a speech at a meeting of the Welsh national Liberal council at Llandrindod Wells, sarcastically referred to the promised tranquility bought by the government. Italy was strangling Greece, he declared, and Great Britain was not allowed to interfere. It was "hands off, Britain," he said.

The fact could not be screened, Lloyd George continued, and in that regard, the British had suffered a serious rebuff. The rejection of Britain's sound advice that the matter between Italy and Greece should be referred to the League of Nations was not only a rebuff but might very well be the death blow to the league.

The practical acceptance of Mussolini's offer by the ambassadors of Europe meant that the British Empire was snubbed out of Europe, the former premier stated.

He added that the present policy of the government was being elbowed out forcibly amidst the snickers of the world.

THRILLING AERIAL SCENES BIG FEATURE OF PHOTOPLAY "THE GO-GETTER"

The most thrilling and picturesque aerial scenes ever staged for a motion picture, the feature of the photo-play "The Go-Getter," a revelation in the making of a Peter B. Kyne story, which E. H. Griffith directed and will be the special feature at the Empress Theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

"The shooting" of these scenes took place at Curtiss Aviation Field, Mineola, and other parts of Long Island and in the International Studios, New York.

This particular part of the picture entails nothing but night scenes, the most spectacular of which is one showing a race between an aeroplane and a speeding express train. This scene is expected to be a revelation when shown upon the screen, especially the part where the speeding train shown as "shot" from the flying aeroplane. It brings to the screen some of the most spectacular and some exceptionally splendid photography.

In the making of these aerial scenes for "The Go-Getter" Director Griffith and the co-operation of the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Corporation, which released an air machine for certain "shots" that were taken in the International Studios, William J. MacMillan, assistant manager of the Curtiss Field, designed the apparatus and supervised the setting up of the aeroplane in the studio, assisted by members of the Curtiss engineering staff, who worked out some of the technical details.

T. Roy Barnes, Seena Owen, William Morris, Tom Lewis and Louis Wolheim are featured in "The Go-Getter." The cast also includes Fredrick Santley, John Carr, William J. Sorelle, Jane Jennings and others.

COMPANY GOES TO FLORIDA FOR EXTERIORS

Douglas Murray's Famous Stage Play is Adapted to Screen With Constance As Star

Constance Talmadge, with Director Chet Withey, cameraman Oliver Marsh and her entire company, traveled from New York to Miami, Fla., to make some exteriors for "Lessons in Love," adapted for the screen by Grant Carpenter from Douglas Murray's play, "The Man from Toronto." This production, which is Miss Talmadge's latest Associated First National release, will be the attraction at the Empress Theatre for an engagement of two days, commencing Friday.

The story was played in this country by Henry Miller under the title of "Perkins" and it is still playing in England as "The Man from Toronto."

CONSTANCE TALMADGE FILMS NOTED PLAY

Douglas Murray's famous stage play, "The Man from Toronto," has been transferred to the screen as "Lessons in Love," under which title it will be presented at the Empress Theatre next Friday and Saturday with captivating Constance Talmadge as the star.

The play, which was acted in the Murray play in this country under the title of "Perkins," and it is still playing in England as "The Man from Toronto." Grant Carpenter adapted it for the screen, and Chet Withey directed Miss Talmadge in this production, which is her latest release through Associated First National Pictures. Advance reports indicate that it is the best Constance Talmadge picture yet turned out.

KYNE'S STORY SCREENED

Peter B. Kyne's popular story, "The Go-Getter," has been pictureized by the Cosmopolitan Corporation for Paramount and will be shown at the Empress Theatre next Monday and Tuesday. T. Roy Barnes and Seena Owen are leading men in the story respectively. The supporting cast is generally excellent.

Macleod Farmers Will Get Irrigation Water In Month

(By F. S. Dyke, A.M.E.I.C.)

Owing to the satisfactory progress on the irrigation repair works, it is confidently expected that the farmers of the district will be given an opportunity to fall irrigate this year and thus obtain a good start for the crop of 1924. It is probable that the main canal will only be in use for the first fortnight in October, but the farmers of the Macleod area will be in the most favourable position for making the best use of the water as it should reach their laterals within two days of its readmission to the headgates, whereas it will take at least five days to arrive at Keho Lake Reservoir and another 24 hours to cross the same and become available at the outlet gates from which the large area to the north of Lethbridge is served.

Fall irrigation has proved a most successful practice in Southern Alberta, particularly in the cases of grasses and alfalfa, and the district farmers in the Macleod section are urged to prepare for it and give it precedence over all other work during the short time it will be possible to use the water, even should this necessitate hauling and stacking the grain from a few acres, watering at once, and repeating the process until the water is shut off.

The moisture thus obtained will be available for the germination of the seed in the spring, and in the case of alfalfa it may be possible to harvest the first crop without irrigating at all, but in any case it will delay the time at which it becomes necessary to irrigate in the new season.

In spite of the abundant rainfall this year there is a very noticeable difference between the growth of crops on land which was watered last fall and on land which was not watered at that time. The Field Staff of the District have been instructed to obtain from every ratepayer the number of acres which he proposes to irrigate this fall, in order that steps may be taken to make the maximum supply required available, and it is hoped that every farmer will endeavor to use the water on at least a few acres of his irrigable land.

20 PER CENT. PROFIT EVERY SIXTY DAYS

New York, Sept. 8.—Lieut. Col. Sir Roderick Hartwell, of Haymarket, London, has offered to supply the British Empire with high grade English goods, R. Q. Merrick, divisional prohibition enforcement chief, said today.

The circular Mr. Merrick said, declared Sir Roderick was planning to ship lots of five thousand cases each to a position just outside the territorial waters of the United States, where the liquor would be transferred to rum-running craft.

Chief Merrick announced that the state department at Washington would be asked to take immediate action.

GOOD CROPS AT MACLEOD

Hi Thompson thresherman, is fitting up his big machine, and will be ready in a few days to expect to be busy all fall. Ringland Brothers are also in the field for threshing and they say there is plenty to keep them going on a longer run this year than any time since they began threshing in Alberta.

In the Ardenville district, Tom Gaudier claims the best crop, and will be satisfied with 30 bushels per acre, but Tom says it will beat that all right that there should be a removal of the mountain scale on grain westward to the Pacific coast, or that there should at least be a large reduction in the differential.

This is the result of the British Columbia freight rate case, pushed so hard for the past year by Hon. John Oliver, premier of British Columbia. Alberta joined in the case, arguing especially a removal of the differential on grain.

It is estimated that if the mountain scale is removed it will mean at least three cents per bushel on wheat from the average Alberta point to Vancouver.

It is felt here that, if the proposal goes through for a reduction in grain it will mean the eventual lowering of the mountain scale on a large number of commodities.

Line Elevators to Blame

Vancouver, Sept. 12.—Line elevator companies were responsible for the embargo on wheat going to Vancouver, according to W. L. Lawler, former grain man, who appeared before the royal grain inquiry commission here today.

Mr. Lawler said the line elevator companies, desiring the farmers to ship through their eastern elevators, and offered the farmers to send their grain to the companies' terminal elevators, where it could be mixed. Also, the companies would not have to pay the premium to the farmers as was done last year when farmers shipped by the western route, he said.

Mr. Lawler thought the line companies should erect terminal elevators here. The Canada Grain Act should be amended, he said, to give Vancouver a sample market. This with proper facilities, would make Vancouver the greatest grain exporting port in the world he said.

COUNCIL OF LEAGUE SEEKS A BASIS FOR ITALO-GREEK PEACE

Milan, Sept. 6.—The Popolo Italia organ of Premier Mussolini, has received a dispatch from Trieste saying: "Telegrams from various sources confirm the news that the Greek government is on the track of the assistance of the Italian mission. Many suspects have been arrested at Janina and along the Greco-Albanian frontier and among them are two of the leaders of the revolutionaries are hunting the others and hope shortly to arrest them."

Geneva, Sept. 6.—Efforts of the League of Nations council to reach some agreement on the Greco-Italian crisis constituted the reason for the sudden decision to hold no session of the assembly this morning.

Lord Robert Cecil and other members of the council desire to go before the assembly with something definite. Council members conferred together privately this morning in attempts to reach a tentative accord with regard to procedure and the attitude to be adopted at the next formal meeting which may possibly be convened this afternoon.

M. Politis, chief representative of Greece here, said today that the tension seemed to have lightened somewhat, but he added that the problem of the Italian occupation of Corfu Island offered great difficulties.

Much interest is felt here in possible action by the council of ambassadors in Paris, to which Greece also has appealed.

ANTI-DIVORCE CAMPAIGN

Movements in the United States is a new one aimed at a national campaign governing marriage relations. Primarily, the divorce evil is the target but behind this is that great and growing problem of education of youth, and fostering of wise mating in marriage. Considering that the United States is now issuing, as a whole, about 160,000 decrees of divorce annually; and that the rate of divorce is increasing three times as fast as the population, a movement to promote more enduring marriage is assuredly needed. But the influences that cause the "jazzing" of matrimony are so many, so complex and working on this line have more than their hands full. They have a real job.

Under the American constitution of course, each State makes its own divorce laws. Some States will not permit divorce at all. Others give it on slight pretext. The average for the 48 States is one divorce in every nine marriages. In forty years, the rate has increased 400 per cent. But what can be expected in a country in which seventeen States have no laws governing marriageable age? In nine States Pennsylvania, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Missouri, Florida, Rhode Island, Tennessee, and Vermont the common law age of 12 for girls and 14 for boys is recognized. In 19 States there is no law governing the marriage of idiots or other unfit persons. The country now has 15,000 married girls under 15 years of age. About 100,000 girls under seventeen are married. But early marriages are not the main cause of divorce. The root of the trouble is the casual, light-hearted way in which matrimony is regarded. Divorce comes largely from a state of mind, from too much liberty or license in general conduct, and too flippant an attitude toward duty to others. This, in turn is partly the consequence of too much prosperity, and partly of a faulty family and school system of education. Too much materialism is at the bottom of the vicious tendencies of the day.

The chief mainstay of marital stability is national character. When this decays, with a lessening of home life and happiness, then easy divorce systems pander to unhealthy and neurotic standards of conduct. One big disadvantage the United States is operating under is the diversity of its laws on divorce, and the first step towards mending the looseness in some States in an agitation for uniform treatment of the subject. But as long as marriage is regarded as a civil contract only or secular arrangement, then persons bound in it will make free use of divorce courts for the terminating of an unpleasant partnership.

ELLIS ISLAND

On the instructions of the British Government, Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador to the United States, made a report upon conditions at Ellis Island, which for some time have been widely discussed in both the American and the British press. The report is considered to be a fair one, although various American newspapers differ from Sir Auckland in matters of detail. The gist of it is that while conditions are bad they might be worse, and that the authorities have the difficult task of battling with the immigrants themselves who, rather than the accommodations at the Island, are chiefly responsible for the bad sanitary conditions that prevail. He suggests that there should be a more general use of hot water, and that the trouble is that many of the newcomers regard hot water with suspicion, and that they are used to smells that are highly offensive to an investigator or to fellow-immigrants of a different upbringing. He admits that the locking of the immigrants in cages at night is necessary although many of them object to being treated as though they were prisoners of war. A constructive suggestion is that the final decision as to whether a given immigrant shall be admitted should be given at Ellis Island and not at Washington, thus cutting out tedious delays. He also, also, a special immigrant station for Jews, but this is not likely to be adopted.

Ellis Island was never a desirable place to spend a week and even half a day, but it is only since the quota law has gone into effect that world-wide attention has been drawn to its defects. Immigrants are herded as never before, and they are herded in the certainty that in a few hours or at most a day they will be permitted to enter the United States, but in the direct uncertainty whether they will not be obliged to return to the point of their original setting forth, poorer by the expenses on the trip and not a step nearer reaching the land of their earnest hopes. They never can be sure when they leave Europe that by the time they arrive at Ellis Island the permitted monthly number of their nationals will not have been exhausted. The steamship companies are equally at sea, although it is manifestly in their interests that they should make no mistakes, since if the rejected immigrants are without funds the steamship company will have to carry them back for nothing. Not long ago a man who had been refused admission to the United States and also to the country of his nativity, was carried back and forth with his family in the ship several times until he ended his problem by committing suicide. The sensible place to deal with the question is in the countries that are sending out the emigrants and not at the port of arrival. It is not unlikely that the United States Secretary of Labor, who has been visiting Europe, will have some recommendations to make upon these lines.

ject to the approval of our full board. These plans, if endorsed by the full board, will be made public immediately.

Elevator Facilities

Winnipeg, Sept. 8 — Representatives of the Alberta and Saskatchewan wheat pool and directors of the United Grain Growers, Limited, and the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company today were again in group conferences for further consideration of plans for securing elevator facilities for the pools. No agreement had been reached at noon today and it is probable that conferences will be continued next week.

George W. Robertson, publicity secretary of the Saskatchewan pool, said no announcement would be made until after a reply had been presented to the memorandum of the elevator interests, which might be ready late to-day.

Alberta representatives are working on the proposals submitted by the United Grain Growers and are hopeful of reaching a satisfactory agreement. At the same time directors of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company are considering new proposals laid before them by the Saskatchewan pool representatives.

BANKS AND ELEVATOR INTERESTS WARNED

Calgary, Sept. 8.—The Calgary Herald in a front page editorial today warns the elevator interests and the banks not to take a position toward the wheat pool that they cannot later defend. The Herald says that the sign-up of contracts in Alberta is remarkable evidence of a desire on the farmer's part to market his grain co-operatively. It stated that business men in general have watched with sympathetic interest this attempt by the farmers to better their conditions. These two classes—the agricultural class and the commercial class—are deeply concerned about the attitude of the elevator and banking interests toward the farmers' plan. The Herald expresses the hope that the banking group will show a sympathetic spirit towards this enterprise, and declares that the business men of Canada as well as the farmers will expect from the banks detailed and explicit reasons for their decision if the latter decline to deal with the co-operating farmers.

Calgary, Sept. 10.—"I do not apprehend any withdrawals to amount to anything, as there is no reason why friends of the pool idea should withdraw and as every contract holder is at liberty to dispose of his grain in any way that he pleases until the board of trustees announces that the organization is effected and ready to handle the pool grain."

In this statement, H. W. Wood, chairman of the board of trustees of the Alberta wheat pool, declared his opinion of the present status of the wheat pool following his return from Winnipeg, where he and two other members of the board of trustees have been negotiating with elevator companies and bankers.

Few Withdrawals
With respect to the number of withdrawals at the present time, members of the board of trustees state that these have been infinitesimal and one member of the board used the word "microscopic" as best defining them. While the actual number has not been definitely stated, it is known to be less than 40, while there were nearly 30,000 contracts signed.

The matter of finance is being delayed until receipt of word from officials of banks in Eastern Canada. It is expected that their reply will be received about Thursday of this week. With respect to the elevator discussions, the Northwest Grain Dealers' Association was reluctant to go further with these until after September 12, the date set for the close of the Saskatchewan drive for signed contracts.

MACLEOD TENNIS CLUB TOURNAMENT

1.—The preliminary rounds must be completed by September 15th.

2.—Those not finished by that date will be scratched, and the committee will select one player in the preliminary round to go into the first round.

3.—The time of each match will be mutually arranged by the players, and if no suitable time can be agreed upon will be fixed by the committee.

4.—All private games during the tournament must give way at once to a tournament game.

5.—All entry fees must be paid before play is commenced.

6.—The tournament matches will consist of one set only up to the semi-finals in each event when the match will consist of two sets in three. Short sets only will be played—that is, if the players are at 6 all the winner of the next game will be the winner of the set.

The death rate of 1922 was the lowest of any year excepting one in the history of the United States and Canada, according to the statistics of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. The rate was 8.8 persons in each 1000 in 1922, while in 1921 the rate was 8.7 persons.

OBITUARY

DEATH OF J. H. G. BRAY

One of the oldest of the old timers of Southern Alberta and known particularly throughout the Macleod, Pincher Creek and Medicine Hat districts, died at Medicine Hat on Sunday afternoon in the person of J. H. Bray, one of the first members of the Royal North West Mounted Police, and for many years stock inspector in the Medicine Hat district. The funeral is being held in Medicine Hat on Tuesday. The late Mr. Bray leaves, besides his widow, a family of six daughters, three sons, 39 grand children and one great grandchild.

John Henry Gresham Bray was born on January 24, 1840, in Herefordshire, England, and was educated at Bewdley, near Worcester. At the age of eighteen he joined the Tenth Hussars, of which the then Prince of Wales was colonel, and for many years he followed the career of a soldier and had stirring adventures in different parts of the world.

In 1873 Mr. Bray came to Canada and was the first man in Toronto to join the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, that force being organized at that time. His ability and previous experience were soon recognized and he was promoted to the rank of sergeant major, being one of the three officers who brought the new force into shape during the winter of 1873-74. A journey of twenty days that winter brought the Mounties to old Fort Garry and in the spring they trekked across the great prairies to a location on the Old Man River where the town of Macleod now stands.

In 1882 Mr. Bray resigned from the R.N.W.M.P. and engaged in ranching in the Pincher Creek district but when the Kiel rebellion broke out in 1885 he donned the King's uniform as a member of the Rocky Mountain Rangers. Following the establishment of peace he engaged in ranching again until 1892, when he came to Medicine Hat. For the next few years he was employed as a foreman of the public works department of the Northwest Territories. In 1896 he was appointed as stock inspector, a position which he held until his recent superannuation. For more than twenty years he was secretary of the Western Stock Growers' Association and for several years he was secretary of the Medicine Hat Agricultural Society.

Dancing in crowded rooms is said by doctors to be responsible for a large proportion of the throat and nose troubles which are becoming so much more prevalent in London.

America has the strongest submarine power in the world. She has 104 ready and 27 building, while Great Britain has 66 and 8 building.

SUMMER'S MAGIC

Let us go wandering,
You and I together.
Let us follow old trails
In the blossom weather.

By the swaying sedges,
At the river's brink
Where the woodland offspring
Kneel for cooling drink.

Far from beaten new trails,
We shall find the way
To Summer's hidden magic—
Let who finds it stay.

The secret of her glad youth
Long ago was won
By a wandering Romya
When the world was young.

MACLEOD AGENT FOR COLONIZATION BODY

Local interest in the work of the newly re-organized Canada Colonization Association is awakened by the announcement made in Winnipeg this week that A. F. Grady the well known live wire land man, has been appointed the association's local agent.

Mr. Grady is anxious to obtain listings of unoccupied farms for sale in his territory for inclusion in the land listings of the association. The first issue of these which bore the date of July 16, contained some 1200 farms in the western provinces. Mr. Grady pointed out in his interview that the more listings there are in this district the better are the chances of the part of the country for obtaining settlement. Mr. Grady states that, in his opinion, the degree of success that will attend his efforts to obtain settlement for this district, as is true in the case of other districts in the West, will depend largely on the liberality of terms given by the owner of the land to the new settler. In view of the depressed condition of farmers everywhere it is essential that lands be listed with a low cash payment, extended terms, and a low rate of interest on the unpaid principal.

If the bank is perfectly safe then it is perfectly safe to put your money in it for safe keeping.

Alberta Coal in Great Demand
Were a freight rate in effect permanently which would put Alberta Coal on a competitive basis in Ontario, orders would be on hand once for at least a quarter of a million tons, declared Howard Stutchbury, trade commissioner of the province, who returned from what was virtually a tour of triumph through the eastern provinces. Mr. Stutchbury was superintending the distribution of the 6000 tons of Alberta coal sent east on the special rate of $7 a ton by the Canadian National. He visited many points in Ontario, accompanied by officials of the C. M. A. and all of these points were anxious to get Alberta coal, provided a freight rate was given that would make it possible. The Ontario government, the C. M. A., and the trade councils of the cities, the U. F. O., and other organizations have taken up the campaign, and are bringing pressure to bear upon the Dominion Government to bring about some solution of the problem of freight rates on the coal. A great deal of publicity supplied by the publicity branch of the Alberta govt. is being used in the east, and Mr. Stutchbury's meetings were given widest possible publicity. He addressed as many as seven meetings in a day.

Alberta Butter Wins More Honors
Creamery butter from Alberta exhibitors won the championship, special prizes, and all first prizes at the Toronto exhibition just closed, according to word received by C. Marker, dairy commissioner. The provinces competing were Alberta, Nova Scotia, Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. This is one of the best records ever made by butter exhibits from this province.

Volunteer for Harvest Help
Nearly 150 men students from the two normal schools in Calgary have volunteered for work in the harvest fields of the province, and have been granted leave for a month from their studies, for that purpose.

Mineral Tax. Mineral Tax
Payments of the provincial mineral tax are coming in slowly to the department of Municipal Affairs. This tax was put into effect last April, and is a tax of three cents an acre on mineral lands, including oil lands. The C. P. R., which has large holdings of this class, has appealed to the Federal Govt. to disallow the legislation, and the Alberta Govt. has taken steps to combat this appeal.

Buffalo Herd Grows
So fast has the Dominion Govt. buffalo herd at Wainwright grown that it is now found necessary to slaughter 2000 head. A contract has been given for this to an Edmonton man, and a factory for the manufacture of pemmican from the buffalo meat is to be established in Edmonton. This food is used extensively in the north.

Swiss Editors Coming
A party of seven Swiss editors are to visit the province during the coming week, in charge of officials of the C. P. R.

Game Laws
Hunters are reminded that the duck season will not open until September 15. The bag limit for ducks and geese is 30 a day or 200 for the season. More Irrigation
It is announced that the C. P. R. will increase the size of its irrigation headgates at Kimball, in southern Alberta, by 50 percent in anticipation of an increase in area of 40,000 acres in the Lethbridge district. Water will be turned into the ditches of the Lethbridge Northern project, north of Lethbridge, it is expected some time this fall.

Judge A. A. Carpenter, chairman of the public utilities board of the province has been appointed chairman of the minimum wage board to succeed A. G. Browning, who has gone to Ontario.

THE HUMBER RIVER
Midst the wonderful green,
And the silvery sheen
Of the glorious, soul-stirring Summer.
In and out 'mong the grasses,
Murmuring sweet as she passes,
Flows the river, the beautiful Humber.

On her breast countless boats
In calm laziness float,
While the boaters in pure joy are singing.
As I sit here in quiet,
Where the wild flowers riot,
I hear the soft melody ringing.

I am here all alone,
By the crowds I'm unknown.
But the birds and the bees, they console me;
And the scent of the air,
Like bland nectar so rare,
In a cloud of deep mystery enfold me.

Up above, it would seem,
O'er this beautiful stream,
That the clouds there were all keeping vigil,
As they sail lightly by
Neath the blue Summer sky.
So majestic, so proud and so regal.

Oh, in rapture I gaze,
As I ponder the ways,
The mysterious ways of Creation
And my soul seems to feel
A kind of peace o'er it steal.
These things are for my elevation

Many thousands here pass,
Like a wave on the grass,
And they each have a soul such as I
That swells with delight
At the glorious sight
Of the river, the trees and the sky

Oh, beauty, supreme,
On the land, on the stream,
Just for this I am thankful to live
All this beauty is mine—
Every flower I can find;
I have all my Creator can give.

Though of wealth I have none,
As I sit here alone,
My spirit, thank God, it is free.
My spirit, I repeat, it is free.
My spirit, I repeat, it is free.
When I'm free to recline
In a place such as Heaven may be?

She Smelt It

Boffkins had brought home a piece of silver ore as a curiosity for his young wife.
"Fancy getting silver out of this piece of stone," she said. "Do you know how they get it, dear?"
"I don't know, dear," he replied. "When I'm free to recline by what process?" asked Boffkins.

"Yes, dear,"
"They smelt it," said Boffkins.
"Oh, fancy that," said his better half.
"Well, that's very funny," she remarked about ten minutes later.
"What's funny?" asked Boffkins looking up from his paper.
"I've smelt it ever so often, and not a scrap of silver has come out yet."

NINTH SEMI-MONTHLY CROP REPORT

Cutting of wheat is practically completed in the southern half of Alberta, and threshing is well started. Cutting of oats has commenced. In the northern portion of the province, cutting of wheat is about 50 per cent somewhat slower in ripening in these districts. Threshing will not commence in the northern part for another week or ten days. Very little of the oats crop has been cut in the north.

The weather during the past fortnight has been showery in the northern districts, causing delay in harvesting in these parts. The present date ideal harvest weather prevails. Reports of frost in one or two districts have been received, with slight damage to grain.

Sufficient threshing has not yet been done to verify estimates of yields, but early returns from the separators appear very favorable. Grain delivered to elevators in the southern districts has been grading chiefly No. 1, with some heavy individual yields reported.

HARVEST LABOR—The labor department of the government has placed to date approximately 12,000 harvesters in the field, and this number has been supplemented by about 100 who did not pass through labor bureaus. The situation now is well in hand, and the bureaus are sending a number of men every day. With continuance of the fine weather, a re-distribution of harvest help will occur that will meet any shortage that might be felt.

ANOTHER DRAMA FOR THE OLD BAILEY

London's famous Old Bailey is about to unroll another of the long list of tragedies that from time to time have attracted world-wide attention to the London police court. Marie Marguerite Fahmy is to be tried for the murder of her husband Ali Kemal Fahmy Bey, whom she shot to death in the Savoy Hotel early one morning some weeks ago. The victim was an Egyptian millionaire twenty-two years old. His wife formerly Marie Lorens, a Frenchwoman of notorious reputation and alluring beauty, is ten years older. They had been married only seven months, and it is a fair guess that they were intoxicated, or at least the youthful groom was intoxicated, when they got married. Shallow-pated squanderer and rioter that he was, it is difficult to imagine him as so completely void of understanding that he would choose for his wife a woman of such infamous antecedents with whom he had lived unmarried for some time. The presumption is that Marie tricked him into the union.

Jealousy
If so, she was adequately punished. According to the testimony of Said Enany, an Anglo-Egyptian, who acted as secretary to the young Egyptian, not a day passed without a quarrel between the two. Fahmy was furious because his wife had deceived him as to her age, and because he found her not nearly so beautiful and interesting as he had expected. The woman was jealous of younger women who were pursuing her handsome husband, who was most generous to her. Fahmy was also jealous, for he believed that his wife was quite capable of resuming her old evil practices among men who found her still attractive. There was no decency in their quarrels. They squabbled before waiters. They made scenes in restaurants. They fought with their fists. The young husband was of frail physique, and the wife had an even chance in a fight with him. Sometimes she appeared in the hotel dining-room with a black eye. As often he appeared with a scratched face or a swollen nose. Their life, as one writer says, was a series of mutual hidings.

Murder Threatened
Each had threatened to kill the other, and the probability is that if Marie had not killed her husband he would have killed her some time or other. A few days before the murder their fiercest quarrel broke out. The woman, who had been under treatment by specialists in gynecology, told her husband that she was going to Paris for an operation. He said she could get as good treatment in London, and that if she insisted upon going to Paris she would go without a cent of his money. Perhaps he feared she was off on some escapade. The secretary saw them at lunch, and all through that meal they kept up their wrangle. The conductor of the Savoy orchestra approached and begged that Madame would choose a selection. She refused, saying "My husband has sworn to murder me in twenty-four hours." In the afternoon the women went shopping with the secretary, buying clothes she would need in Paris. When she returned, the husband changed his tactics. He pleaded with his wife not to humiliate him by leaving. She remained obdurate, and at 1.45 a.m., went to her room, locking the door in her husband's face.

The Murder
Some time later he must have been admitted, and the quarrel burst forth with increased fury. At 2.30 the night porter was making his rounds when Fahmy ran out of a room crying, "See what she has done to me," exhibiting a livid mark under his eye. His wife was trying to drag him back. The porter admonished them not to create a disturbance, and ordered them back to their rooms. He had hardly reached the end of the corridor when he heard three shots ring out in quick succession. The man had once more sought to escape from the rooms and the woman had fired three bullets into his body. The last one had pierced his brain, and as he lay dying, it is said that she stooped over him and uttered what sounded like a curse in French. Then she waited quietly for the police. Her story told later, was that her husband ignoring her condition, had tried to attack her. Earlier in the evening she had fired a shot out of the window and had supposed the revolver to be empty. She sought to frighten him with it, when to her astonishment the weapon exploded. Then she lost her senses. Her Defence

Her counsel will try to get her off or have the charge of murder reduced relying upon the plea of self defence. It will be easy to show that her husband attacked her frequently, beat her and horribly insulted and humiliated her. On the other hand, it will be quite as easy to show that she was guilty of the same offences against him. It can be proved that both kept revolvers. Mme. Fahmy will be defended by Sir Edward Marshall Hall or Sir Henry Curtis Bennett. Her attorney is Mr. Freke Palmer, a past master in the defence of women for murder ever since his remarkable but unsuccessful fight for the life of Mary Ellen Piercey. If the murder had been in any sense calculated it is almost certain that Mme. Fahmy would have waited until she was on French soil, for such a crime as she has committed is not viewed so sternly in France as in England where they hang women just as they hang men. It is difficult to believe that this Frenchwoman will be hanged. There is a vast difference between her crime and that of Mrs. Thompson, for instance.

Little but routine work was done on account of the late hour.

These words they represent the substance of the first interview that George F. Baker has given, since he came to Wall Street at the age of twenty-two. The other day he celebrated his eighty-second birthday. For sixty years he has traveled in and out of the First National Bank just opposite old Trinity Church on Wall Street. For sixty years he has been accumulating, slowly, gradually, that $200,000,000. And for sixty years he has kept at it as the Sphinx. Wall Street has watched him and wondered. Financiers and newspaper reporters have come together for sixty years in rendezvous of mutual exasperation. He has been a well-calculated silence even an artistic silence, and people have felt it. From the very beginning of his career in Wall Street there has been nothing of the cheap detective mystery surrounding George F. Baker. He has volunteered no reason for his silence. He has simply remained aloof. "Silence," Mr. Baker said before he ended the interview "it uses up much less energy." If a pistol were pointed at the financier's brain, he might produce a philosophy of finance that would be good enough to make people listen. Some of them would forget it. But none of them will ever forget him.

GEORGE F. BAKER BREAKS SILENCE OF 60 YEARS

A famous newspaper editor is quoted as saying that if a dog bit a man, that was not news, but if a man bit a dog, it was good for a feature. On the same principle, when financiers do not talk, that is not news, but when one of them, after a silence—to newspaper reporters—of sixty years, opens his mouth for publicity, even his tiniest word is grasped at eagerly. George F. Baker, one of the magnates of Wall Street, said to be worth $200,000,000, has spoken to a reporter after sixty years of silence, and though what he says would not pass for wisdom if it came from a twenty-year-old clerk, yet the fact that Baker's rule of silence is broken interests Wall Street immensely, and also that great throng of people who keep fondly reading about the things that Wall Street people say and do. George F. Baker speaks! What an immensely significant event for the multitudes that wait, gasping, for the word from the head of one of the great banks.

Everything Is All Right

And what does George F. Baker say? At the bottom of a period of stock market decline, after abrupt termination of boom conditions in the industrial sections of the United States, he utters, in a few words of cheer. Stock market wisecrackers would ordinarily take this to mean that big insiders in Wall Street, having unloaded on the bull market up to last Spring, have now accumulated a fresh line at the new low prices and want the market up again. But of course, when a banker opens his mouth, after sixty years of silence that is hardly a fair charge. In that period the United States has seen many booms and panics, each of them far bigger than the recent deflation, and if George F. Baker did not air his opinions then for propaganda purposes, it is unlikely that it is for such purposes he does so at the age of 82. He says:—"Everything is all right. The country is on the road to prosperity perhaps the greatest prosperity that any country ever attained. But I shouldn't be talking about it. Business men of America should reduce their talk at least two-thirds. Every one should reduce his talk. There is rarely ever a reason good enough for anybody to talk. "There—you have it. Those are the first words I've spoken to a newspaper since 1863."

The Sphinx of Wall Street

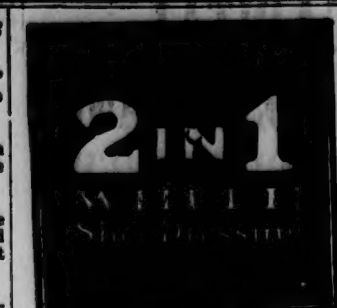

These words they represent the substance of the first interview that George F. Baker has given, since he came to Wall Street at the age of twenty-two. The other day he celebrated his eighty-second birthday. For sixty years he has traveled in and out of the First National Bank just opposite old Trinity Church on Wall Street. For sixty years he has been accumulating, slowly, gradually, that $200,000,000. And for sixty years he has kept at it as the Sphinx. Wall Street has watched him and wondered. Financiers and newspaper reporters have come together for sixty years in rendezvous of mutual exasperation. He has been a well-calculated silence even an artistic silence, and people have felt it. From the very beginning of his career in Wall Street there has been nothing of the cheap detective mystery surrounding George F. Baker. He has volunteered no reason for his silence. He has simply remained aloof. "Silence," Mr. Baker said before he ended the interview "it uses up much less energy." If a pistol were pointed at the financier's brain, he might produce a philosophy of finance that would be good enough to make people listen. Some of them would forget it. But none of them will ever forget him.

Began in Small Bank

George F. Baker conceived the philosophy of silence at adolescence. Great changes came in the world about him, but his face remained inscrutable. He placed himself in Wall Street and bit by bit built up about him a distinct and powerful atmosphere. As for his career—"I did nothing unusual when I began," he said. "My first job that I chose to call a job, was in a small bank at Albany. I was a very quiet worker and that served to distinguish me. It was there that I made and invested my first thousand dollars. Then I simply planned my way to Wall Street. It was with this money that I bought the First National Bank." Arrived in Wall Street, George F. Baker continued to keep quiet. The First National Bank remained inconspicuous for a long time. Then one day financial circles were electrified by the announcement that "Baker's" Bank was preparing to double its capital and declare a dividend equivalent to $10,000,000. Nothing like this ever has been heard of in American banking history. But not a word was voiced by the President of the bank.

He Looks the Part

George F. Baker has grown to look the part of "Silence." Strongly reminiscent of our mental portrait of George Eliot's Silas Marner, he is large and quiet and grey. Every minute detail of the furnishing of his office, like every minute detail of his life, contributes to the effect of dignified quietude. Suddenly all of it seemed to break in half. He fairly shouted:—"There! I've broken my record! Tell the others they needn't come in

And get out!"

But just then he smiled—a smile that was as quiet and unobtrusive as his life. He let it rest on his face for a moment, brushing away his dimly imaginable like fire applied to a thin theatre curtain. And for a moment he resembled a few of the other men in the world.

GOLDEN DREAMS OF YOUTH

Oh the golden dreams of youth, How beautiful bright and fair— They seem upon the portals Of our lives, as we stand there! Visions of pomp and splendor, Like butterflies flit around. We live in the clouds of April, Where happiness floats around.

So we go on dreaming, dreaming, Building castles grand in Spain, In our hearts a Spring-like gladness Only youthful hearts can claim. Sweet are the fancies of our youth, So radiant, rosy and gay! Great adventures, love and romance We are sure we'll meet some day.

Alluring are the dreams of youth, Fair and sweet as dawn of day; We never think of failure, Or that hopes will fade away. The Summer skies, they look so blue No thought of danger or strife, That many dark clouds may arise To obscure the joys of life. —Caroline Eleanor Wilkinson

GROCERIES, FRUITS AND PROVISIONS

The Preserving Fruits and Pickling Vegetables will soon be over. The demand is good, and the supply plentiful. It has been a good season for the variety of fruit offered. Don't put off procuring till it is too late. You don't require to be told by us what we have—the list is large. The pickling season won't last for ever. You feel so independent when your cellar is stocked with jams, pickles and preserves. You are the envy of the less fortunate—friends visiting you look forward to the event with longing expectancy.

DRY GOODS AND HOSIERY

Just a little advice to you ladies. A nice pair of Hose and suitable Boots or Shoes are a necessity—you absolutely can't do without them—they are more important than underwear, gloves, or millinery. Now, when you go to buy a pair of hose, ask the affable clerk what he has in odd lines of silk, lisle, cotton, or wool goods, that may be equally as good as a regular line, and at less cost. We always have lots of hose of every kind that can't be duplicated, and it is necessary to clear those out at tempting prices. They may do you as well as the ones at regular prices. The shades of color are not so important as the fit and texture. It all depends on the way you put them on—the length of the skirt—of course some individuals are favored by nature with a shape that is the envy of sculptors—but any woman, thin, medium, or otherwise, can make herself very attractive with a pleasant smile, and be simply irresistible.

W. M. Davidson, M.L.A., Editor of The Morning Albertan says

CLAUSE "D" DOES NOT MEAN THE RETURN OF THE BAR

Writing editorially August 16th he says:—

"The Moderationists have always insisted even when appearing before the Legislative committee drafting the questions, that they did not want the return of the bar and included such a statement in the proposed ballot submitted at the time. The Albertan is quite confident that if "D" passes, this Government and this Legislature will do their utmost to have conditions as different as possible from the old days of the bar.

"It doubts, AFTER THE REPEATED STATEMENTS OF THE MODERATIONISTS, if any Government or Legislature would dare to permit what we generally regard as the old bar system."

DO NOT BE FOOLED—

The Moderationists are honest in their statements that they do not want the return of the bar.
